Chairman of Trustees:
JOHN MOONEY, Esq., C.V.O., D.L.
WAR MEMORIAL.
In connection with the proposed Memorial to sixty-nine Old Boys who fell during the war, a subscription list has been opened, and it is hoped that the response will be worthy of the occasion.
Choices should be made payable to the War Memorial Committee, and should be forwarded at earliest convenience to the Headmaster, or Hon. Secretaries, at the College.

THE ABBEY, TIPPERARY.
1669. 1919.
A definite scheme has now been adopted to provide a Permanent Memorial to the many Old Boys who have fallen in the War.
It has been decided, in the first place, to put up a Brass Mural Tablet in the Transept of the Parish Church, whose so many generations of Abbey Boys have worshipped. This Tablet will be inscribed with the names of those who have fallen.
It has also been decided, with the approval of the Board of Governors, to convert the existing Gymnasium into a two-storey building, and to provide in the upper storey a fully-equipped Library and Reading Room for the use of the boys. This, we know, will supply a long-felt want, and will form an abiding memorial in the Abbey of those who have died for their country, as their names will also be inscribed on the walls of the Library.
Subscriptions may be sent to Hon. Treasurer, or Secretary, or any Member of the following Committee of Old Boys:
AUGUSTINE BAKER, 36 Merrion square, Dublin, Rev. Canon SOMERVILLE LARGE, Farm Hill, Dundrum, Co. Dublin.
Major-General JOHN RUSSELL, D.M.S., Lower Castle Yard, Dublin.
P. ST. G. MANSERGH, Gweanne, Tipperary.
Rev. Canon MARSHALL, The Rectory, Tipperary.
FRED KENNEDY, M.D., Parr square, Limerick.
Rev. Canon WHITE, Rector, Templemore.
Rev. G. S. BAKER, B.D., Kilshannig Rectory, Mallow.
HARRY B. MOLONY, D.L., Fort-el-Riguel, Brae.
R. A. F. ROGERS, F.T.C.D., Trinity College, Dublin.
NATHANIEL TAYLOR, Lieut. A.S.C., Rimahl Sands Hotel, Liverpool, and St. Stephen's Green, Dublin.
Lt.-Col. ESLER COCHRANE, Barr.-at-Law, Bar.
Capt. WESTROPP GEORGE, R.E., The Barracks, Athlone.
Capt. LEOPOLD MURPHY, late R.G.A., Trinity College, Dublin.
We feel sure that this scheme will meet with generous support, and that the 250th anniversary of our founding will witness the setting up of a Memorial worthy of the School and of the cause for which her sons have laid down their lives.

Application from intending candidates will be received by the Secretary of the Council at the Offices, 13, Rutland square, Dublin, not later than 30th June, 1919, from whom a Form of Application may be obtained, which is to be sealed by a parent or guardian of the applicant, and a Form of Consent to be signed by a Clergyman, Magistrate, or Member of the County Council. The document must be returned by the applicant, with the Certificate of the Committee of the County Council, and if the application is for a Leaving Scholarship, the Certificate will give a statement of the Special Examination subjects in which the candidate proposes to be examined, and the order of his or her preference.
Scholarships will be awarded in the first instance in which the candidates stand in the Results of the Matriculation Examination of the Royal University of Ireland, or the Entrance Examination of the Queen's College, Belfast, or the Intermediate Examination of the Board of Education, Ireland, or in any other Examination which shall be subsequently supplied to candidates.
The Examination Papers will be of Honour Standard. Candidates will be required to answer, in five subjects as at Matriculation, and to obtain qualification for award of a Scholarship a candidate must obtain honours in four subjects.
A Candidate to whom Scholarships have been awarded at the Special Scholarship or Leaving Examination must, in addition, before the 31st December, 1919, comply with the Matriculation Regulations of the Royal University of Ireland, or with the Regulations of Entrance Examinations of such other Universities as may be recognised by the Colleges authorised to confer Degrees in Dublin, and must, and may be awarded to the candidate next in order of merit in the Examination, if any, who shall have matriculated.
Male Scholars must reside either in University Hall or University College, Blackrock, and Female Scholars in Loreto House, Stephen's Green, or Alexandra College, Earlsfort Terrace, Dublin, or such other approved Hostels as the County Council may from time to time nominate. The Scholarship value is £50 per annum, payable to the Scholar, who must arrange to reside in a Hostel approved of by the County Council. In the event of a Scholar being unable to obtain accommodation in one of the Hostels approved of by the County Council, the Council will decide upon such other Hostel as may be suitable. As soon as possible after receipt of Notice of the Award of a County Scholarship a Scholar must apply to one of the approved Hostels for accommodation therein. The Scholarship will be paid quarterly to the Scholarship. Any Scholar who, after obtaining his Scholarship, ceases to be a Dundrum Student and county with the terms of this regulation.
The cost of maintenance of each County Scholarship holder, estimated for males at £45 for a period of 33 weeks, and for females at £50 for a like period, will be paid direct to the Secretary or Principal of the Hostel where the Scholar resides, and the fees for the University course of each County Scholarship holder will be paid out of the University Authorities out of the Scholarship Fund, so far as the funds thereof will extend. Any sum still remaining to be paid in respect of College Fees in any one year than sufficient to pay the fees of the Scholar was being the ordinary Arts Course.
On Applications for the renewal of the payments in respect of the second and third year shall be made by each Scholar, and no payment will be made in respect of the second year in the case of a Scholar who fails to obtain a Certificate from the College authorities of satisfactory conduct and satisfactory progress during the first year; and no payments will be made in respect of the third year in the case of a Scholar who fails to produce such Certificate of satisfactory conduct and progress in respect of the year previous to the application.
Any Scholarship in respect of which no application for renewal is received within one month after it shall be due, or, if made, of which notice will be sent to each Scholar, or in respect of which the Certificate of Conduct and Progress before mentioned shall not be produced, shall be deemed to have lapsed.
Last year the Council made with satisfaction that it was proposed to endow a Chair of Agriculture in University College, Dublin, which would enable students to prepare for and obtain their University Degrees in this most essential and important subject.
The Council regret that the details of this scheme are not completed, but that considerable preliminary arrangements have been made for the establishment of the Chair, which have the approval of the Governing Body of the College, as well as the Senate of the University.
It has been decided that the Course for Agricultural Degrees must extend over a period of four years, and the Council will therefore be prepared to extend Scholarships granted to Students who are reading for the first two years.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

Early in the week I mentioned that it was possible that the signing of the Peace Treaty would be celebrated about August Bank Holiday. It seems to be quite a good idea that the authorities should have fixed on August 4th as the central day of the celebrations, for it is the anniversary of the declaration of war, and a most appropriate date for the declaration of peace. The religious celebrations on August 3 are to be as national in character as possible. The King, with all the members of the Royal Family, is expected to be present at a Thanksgiving Service at St. Paul's Cathedral, while there will be special Thanksgiving Services at Westminster Abbey and the other great churches of London, including Westminster Cathedral. Public Services are also to be organised in the parks and open spaces.

Presumably, the plans now being made assume that the Germans will sign the Peace Treaty. At present, judging by the news from Germany, such a step seems unlikely, but the Germans are not sportsmen, and cannot stomach defeat when it is brought home to them in such an uncompromising manner. It is safe to say that many thousands of Germans did not really believe that they had met with such a disastrous defeat as the peace terms imply. Consequently, they are not only surprised, but resentful. It is thought in Paris, however, that, though there may be considerable trouble, the Germans will sign the Peace Treaty in due course.

The Evening News says to-day: "There is no knowledge at the Irish Office of the actual, or intended, resignation of Lord French, but from another source I hear that before the Lord Lieutenant left London on his return to Dublin he placed his resignation in the hands of the King and Mr. Bonar Law (acting for the Prime Minister). In political circles there is a discussion as to whether that Lord French, if he has taken such a course, will be persuaded to remain in office. He is a strong man, and has been a success as Viceroy, and the Government do not want to lose him."

Mr. Asquith's speeches at Newcastle are being looked forward to with considerable interest, for they will be the first important utterances that he has made since the General Election, and he will be, to some extent, on his defence. Probably nothing in his recent career did him so much harm as the last speech which he delivered in Newcastle, on April 20th, 1915, when he specifically declared that there was no truth in the statement that the operations of the Allied Armies were being crippled for want of ammunition. Yet a fortnight later, that is to say, on the 5th May, the Liberal Government was succeeded by the first Coalition, and Mr. Lloyd George was appointed Minister of Munitions to do the very thing which Mr. Asquith had implied was unnecessary. The speech he is expected to throw some light upon the circumstances under which he came to mislead the public in this matter.

A Tullow Blue Book, of some 300 pages, was published to-day, giving the minutes of evidence and documents accompanying the second report of the Irish Sub-Committee of the Select Committee on Transport. The cost of the book is 3s. net, and it contains quite a mine of information on the ports and canals of Ireland.

It is said that Lord Milner will most certainly accede to the request of the Government that he should accept the Chairmanship of the Commission that is to proceed to Egypt to inquire into the conditions prevailing there. Lord Milner is attached to his work at the Colonial Office, and does not wish to give it up, but a similar arrangement might be made for his retention of the post as in the case of Mr. Montagu when he went for a long stay in India. It is just thirty years since Lord Milner first went to Egypt as Under-Secretary for Finance. One result of his three years' stay there was his book, "England in Egypt," which still remains one of the best accounts of the benefits brought to the country by the British occupation.

Some amusing stories are being told regarding the refusal of the Federation of Engineering and Shipbuilding Trades to accept with the negotiations for the purchase of the two national shipbuilding yards. The Federation recognised that, to make the works a success, they would have to be managed by trained and experienced directors. The managers could not be procured from among the ranks of the Federation. It is believed that Lord French, if he has taken such a course, will be persuaded to remain in office. He is a strong man, and has been a success as Viceroy, and the Government do not want to lose him.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

SHIFTING THE ODIUM.

The impression, our Political Correspondent states, has been growing in Paris, remarks The Times, that the Germans will make no difficulty about signing the Treaty. Whatever may be the grounds on which this impression is founded, there is nothing in the recent reports of German domestic politics to throw discredit upon it. The bluster out of doors is, of course, continued; it is, indeed, if anything, more obstreperous. The "militarists" are openly taking a hand. The Berlin General Staff are alleged to have sent a communication, read the other day at a bourgeois meeting in Breslau, which recommends the organisation throughout the country of a popular protest against acceptance of the peace terms. These "manœuvres of the military party" fill the breasts of the minority Socialists with suspicion. The tactics which the rival factions are pursuing were, continues The Times, traditional under the old diplomacy. We need hardly remind our readers of the earnestness with which the Kaiser pressed them upon the unhappy Nicholas II. when discussing a peace with Japan. Nor need we do more than recall that, when the Kaiser himself saw his prospects darkening, he resorted to the trick which he had recommended to his brother monarch. At the end of last September when, he threw Count Hertling overboard, he took occasion to record his decision that "the German people should co-operate more effectively than hitherto in deciding the fate of the Empire." That is what Herr Scheidemann desires now. But the policy was not originated by the Kaiser. It may be as old as the siege of Troy. At any rate, it was familiar to the politicians of the eighteenth century. When Philip of Orleans found it difficult to get out of France's confectionery with this country about Belgium in 1789 he wrote that the Ministers of Louis XVI. did not "only to excite, or even to let excite, the National Assembly, and to throw the whole matter upon them if things went badly, while, if things went well, they might take the credit." After all, the tactics of Herren Scheidemann and Haase, no less than those of the Kaiser, bears a strong family resemblance to the old-world tricks of Philippe Egalité—a worthy practitioner of such manœuvres.

THE IMPERIAL WAR CABINET.

Discussing the speeches at the Empire Parliamentary Association, The Times says:—There is a political corollary to the military part of the Dominions in the war, but we will leave that to most of us yet—in Canada and the other Dominions apparently as much as in the British Isles. How are we to account for this? It is evident enough, as all who take an interest in the development of Imperial relations know. Both Sir Robert Borden and Mr. Bonar Law felt, it yesterday, and both were at pains to insist upon the immense political importance of the Imperial War Cabinet. Up to that date, the then Liberal Government was succeeded by the first Coalition, and Mr. Lloyd George was appointed Minister of Munitions to do the very thing which Mr. Asquith had implied was unnecessary. The speech he is expected to throw some light upon the circumstances under which he came to mislead the public in this matter.

AMERICA AND THE GERMAN WAIL.

If the Germans are hoping to obtain some amelioration of the peace terms as the result of the agitation which is now being told respecting the refusal of the Federation of Engineering and Shipbuilding Trades to proceed with the negotiations for the purchase of the two national shipbuilding yards. The Federation recognised that, to make the works a success, they would have to be managed by trained and experienced directors. The managers could not be procured from among the ranks of the Federation. It is believed that Lord French, if he has taken such a course, will be persuaded to remain in office. He is a strong man, and has been a success as Viceroy, and the Government do not want to lose him.

ALLIED SQUADRON FOR SCHLESWIG COAST.

The British Government has, says The Times, agreed to a proposal from Paris that an Allied naval force should be formed for the study of the coast of Schleswig-Holstein in connection with the proposed changes there. The force will be under a British Admiral, who has not yet been appointed. The British contribution to the force will consist of light cruisers and mine-sweepers, with a depôt ship.

INDEMNITY QUESTIONS.

Colonel Claude Lowther intends to return to the question of indemnities in the Commons next week, says The Times. He will ask the Government on Tuesday whether the British delegates have formulated our claims in full against the enemy countries, and if the sum total of the enemies' monetary indebtedness to the British Empire can be stated. On Monday he will ask whether 'a day can now be allotted, without prejudice to the allied interests, for the discussion of the peace terms by members of the House.

CANADA AND SINN FEIN.

On the arrival of the Royal George at Halifax, telegraphs The Times Toronto Correspondent, Brother Thomas Rahilly, of Cork, Ireland, will be refused admittance into Canada. It is contended that he is a Sinn Fein agitator, who has openly announced that his purpose in coming to Canada is to spread Sinn Fein doctrines among the French-Canadian population.

ONE CONTROL FOR WINDING UP WAR WORK.

We understand, says The Times, that the Government have in contemplation a comprehensive scheme for co-ordinating all the winding-up work left over from the war under a single control. This step, it is intended, should have the effect of very largely reducing the staffs of self departments now engaged on this work, and of speedily securing a very considerable release of buildings now in the temporary possession of the Government.

THE WHITSUNTIDE RECESS.

It is understood, says The Times, that the present arrangement is that the House of Commons shall adjourn for the Whitsuntide recess on Friday, June 6th, and reassemble at the end of the month.

EVADING IRISH MEAT ORDER.

DISCLOSURES IN ENGLISH BUTCHER'S ACTION.

The story of how the seaside resort, Morecambe, used to purchase fresh meat from Ireland at more than the controlled prices was told at the Lancaster County Court yesterday when William Geldert, butcher, sued the Morecambe Butchers' Association for £52, the balance of money alleged to have been paid in the Dublin markets for lambs and cattle. It was stated that the butchers consented to Geldert buying stock for them till they were told that it would be seized, and then they requested him to stop, but he went again and bought lambs, etc. They declined to pay the deficiency which arose. The cattle, it was said, were slaughtered in Ireland to avoid the Meat Order.

Judge Sturges held that the plaintiff could not recover, as it was against the public policy to try to avoid D.O.R.A. regulations. Costs followed his decision, but he thought that they should not be enforced.

AT THE CONFERENCE.

OUR LETTER FROM PARIS.

THE AUSTRIAN DELEGATES.

VIENNESE URBANITY.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, MAY 15.

Even had it been designed, no more striking contrast than that between the arrival of the Austrian Delegation and that of the German Plenipotentiaries could be conceived. The latter Mission arrived on the evening of a raw, bleak, winter day, on which torrents of rain had fallen, and a bitterly cold wind swept the streets of Vancresson, the little village about three miles out of Versailles. The reception was, in every way, in keeping with the weather. The Prefect of the Seine et Oise uttered his message in an even monotone; the icy chill of the words struck all who heard them as a correct impression of the feeling of so many whose recent losses in the great war had filled them with a never-to-be-forgotten hate against the authors of their misery. Count Brockdorff-Rantzau, a pale, but obviously notable, personage, clearly not in a good state of health, headed the Delegation, which, in all its aspects, was unmistakably German.

Yesterday the Austrian delegates were awaited at St. Germain, an exceedingly pretty spot, about an hour's journey from Paris. The day was sultry and close in the extreme. Not a breath of air stirred the languid atmosphere. The country looked rich and prosperous in its thick coat of spring vegetation. The grass everywhere was knee-high; fruit trees were in blossom or even well on in leaf; the chestnuts cast a kindly shade along the railway track; the sweet-smelling wistaria trailed gracefully over many an old chateau or country home, and the perfume of lilac hung heavy on the air. One felt that France must soon yield new wealth to her industrious sons from a soil so fertile.

The sleepy little town of St. Germain showed greater interest than the mere aggressive Vandeen Groups of country folk, curious as to the appearance of the foreigners, of whom so much had been heard, were waiting about the market place hours before the train was actually due. The station chosen for the official reception was, however, some distance away at a siding called St. Germain Grande Ceinture. The French authorities, anxious to avoid any demonstrations, had on both occasions of marked demonstrations, had on both occasions of marked demonstrations, had on both occasions of marked occasion, in providing shelter for the overflow of men wanting some place to rest their weary limbs. It is estimated that during the three years sleeping accommodation has been found for not less than 150,000 men—a task which has involved difficulties demanding infinite tact and patience on the part of the members of the Committee and of the Guides Corps engaged in this work. The accounts of income and expenditure for the period ended 31st December are attached. It will be noticed that No. 1 Account (Colleges street) showed a balance due bank of £620 15/6; on deducting stock and cash in hands, a net liability of £300 9/9; No. 2 Account (Exchange Court) showed a balance due bank of £297 11/9; No. 3 Account (Overseas Wing) showed a balance due bank of £165 18/9. The expansion of the Club's work may be estimated by the increase in its trading receipts, which for the year 1915/17 were £3,726 17/3; for 1917/18, £7,338 14/11, and for the ten months ended 31st December, £18,999 14/3.

THE LORD CHIEF JUSTICE.

In proposing that the report and statement of accounts be adopted, the Lord Chief Justice (Chairman of the Committee) said that after hearing the report read those who were not formerly acquainted with the remarkable work of the Club must now be satisfied with the progress made. One remarkable thing was the amount of money received from soldiers—£44,944. Now the Club was established there was no provision of an adequate character made for the reception of the many travelling soldiers in Dublin, and the garrison was largely, but of course, which took care of the garrison soldiers, but the Club's primary object was to take care of those passing to and fro between Great Britain and Ireland, for whom no provision had been made. The success of the Club had depended upon two factors of almost equal importance—first, the Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society, which brought the soldiers and sailors to the Club when they might be led astray; and, secondly, the Voluntary Service Corps, which looked after them upon their arrival and ministered to their comforts in such a way that no paid help could ever do. It was, consequently, with very great confidence they appealed for continued support. Since the 1st February they had paid all their expenses out of their receipts, and had not lost a penny. (Applause.) There had been a loss during the armistice months, which was due to the fact that large numbers of soldiers were passing at that time to and fro and many were thrown on their hands who had not a penny. Notwithstanding this they had always been provided with meals. (Applause.)

Mr. A. M. Fullerton (Vice-Chairman), who seconded the motion, paid a tribute to the Homes established and run by Miss Sanders, and also to the magnificent work done by the Garrison Buffet in Dawson street and the Soldiers' Rendezvous in Abbey street. But there were certain features of the Central Club which were not coming to those institutions. Yesterday, on the railway station, he saw depressing things during the last three or four years in Dublin had been the systematic robbery of soldiers. There was no railway station home which did not loster touts, who, on the pretence of being friendly, sought to lodge the soldiers in various places with the object of robbing them. At an early stage of the Club's existence this danger was recognised, and it was arranged that the Club should induce the soldiers to allow their money to be kept there for them. In conclusion, he said the Ladies' Auxiliary Corps had done marvellous work, and the ladies also had really been magnificent in their services to the Club. (Applause.)

The motion was carried with acclamation.

SIR FREDERICK SHAW.

Lieutenant-General Sir Frederick Shaw, K.C.B., proposed a resolution that the Soldiers' Central Club is worthy of the continued support of the public," said that no one who had read the annual report could doubt that the Soldiers' Central Club had fully justified its existence. It had been his pleasure to see the working of the Club, both in peace and war, and he was convinced that if it was still more liberally supported in the future it would be a practically self-supporting institution. It was practically self-supporting. All those who had worked in connection with the organisation of the Club deserved the highest congratulated on its success. He had heard there was a project on foot for providing a large Soldiers' Club as a war memorial. He was not in that were so, it was a project which all soldiers should support in every possible way. Nothing in the world did it more credit for the soldiers as these outside institutions in Dublin—more than in any other city he knew of—the outside clubs, which the Army organisation had considered it was necessary, because the conditions of a soldier's life in Dublin were, he might say so, not of the best. In the first place, a large section of the population was not too friendly to the soldier, and, in the second, the Dublin barracks, with one exception, were old and inconvenient. The institutes which were provided were small and inadequate, and the result was the greatest importance that clubs such as the Soldiers' Central Club should be non-sectarian. Immense good was done by sectarian institutes, but all through his service he had held that they would do very much better if all forms of religion were placed on the same basis. On behalf of the Army in Ireland, he desired to express keen appreciation of the great work which the Club had done, and especially the ladies and gentlemen who acted on the Committee under the chairmanship of the Lord Chief Justice.

Mrs. Watson, Commandant of the Voluntary Service Corps, seconded, and the motion was passed.

MR. JUSTICE PIM.

Mr. Justice Pim proposed that the best thanks of the meeting be tendered to the Lord Lieutenant for presiding. It was a mere compliment to say that the Club was fortunate in having a very great and distinguished soldier. He had become the property of each one of them, and they were all anxious to have a share in his history. The Lord Lieutenant was in a position of no slight responsibility, and his time could hardly be his own. He was glad that the Ladies' Committee were extremely grateful to him for presiding at that meeting. Lord French had all the qualities that went to make for the well-being of the soldiers under his charge, and he was but consistent with his past life that he should be the first to take up the cudgels on the opportunity of being present.

Mr. H. Austin Lee, K.C., seconded, and said that he was very pleased to hear that the Club would be carried on as a permanent memorial to the soldiers who fallen in the war. He knew of no greater memorial that could be erected in Dublin. They were pleased to see Sir Frederick Shaw present, and glad to be able to resume his public duties, and they hoped to see him for a long time in Ireland as the representative of the Majesty's Government, and they hoped that when he left this country it would be a far different one from what it was when he came. (Applause.)

The Lord Lieutenant, in reply, referred to the share taken by the women of Ireland in bringing about the present peace, and he was most grateful for the opportunity of being present.

The meeting concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

ST. HELEN'S FETE.

In every way everybody had a splendid time yesterday at St. Helen's fete. Whether the day was glorious; the attendance was larger than on the previous days, and included even a greater proportion of the fair sex. Indeed, the latter were the best so far, but to-day it is expected to be even better. Sir Harold Nutting has made a most hopeful estimate of the financial results of the fete, and set the figure high, is likely to prove a goodly one. The final result could not possibly be forecast, but the belief of the hon. secretaries, Miss Macnie and Mr. Keatinge, is that the ambitions of Sir Harold and Lady Nutting, to whom so much of the success is due, will be more than realised. To-day will be the great day. Special special features have been arranged. Attention may be drawn to one event which is expected to be well supported. This is the auctioning of a fine, fat, young sow. It is said to be worth a good deal, and the hope is that a crowd of generous bidders will take care to ensure its value is appreciated in cash. When ever is realised by the sale of the sow is for the benefit of the hospital. The final glory of the fete will be a splendid firework display. This will be a novelty in itself, from the fact that the firework known as the first pyrotechnic display since the war began. Lady Nutting is to distribute the horse-jumping prizes. All the features of the fete will be in full swing to-day, and it is the last opportunity of enjoying them.

THE POULTRY INDUSTRY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—My attention has been called to an inquiry by "Interested" as to the omission of poultry classes at the Royal Dublin Society's forthcoming June Agricultural Show.

The Society has decided to institute a full annual programme of shows, each having its distinctive and appropriate features, and, in this connection, the Winter Show, to be held at Ballsbridge in late November or early December (dates not yet fixed), will include a comprehensive classification for poultry.

To hold such a Show at that period of the year will enable the Society to encourage the exhibition of birds hatched in the year—a very important factor—and special attention will also be devoted to the novice exhibitor.—

Yours, etc.,
EDWARD BOWARD,
Agricultural Superintendent,
Royal Dublin Society, Leinster House,
Dublin, May 16th, 1919.

Mr. Hughes, Australian Premier, with his secretary, Mr. Deane, left Paris on Thursday for England in an aeroplane, but owing to fog the machine was obliged to make a forced landing on the north coast of France. The landing was accomplished safely, and Mr. Hughes and his secretary proceeded to England by yesterday's boat.

THE MINISTRY OF PENSIONS.

WORK OF DECENTRALISATION.

ADDRESS BY SIR JAMES CRAIG, M.P.

A largely-attended conference of representatives of the War Pensions Committees in the area of Central and Southern Ireland was held yesterday in the Engineers' Hall, 35 Dawson street, Dublin, for the purpose of hearing an address from Sir James Craig, Bart., M.P., Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Pensions on "Decentralisation."

Sir James Craig, M.P., who was received with applause on taking the chair, said that many of them honoured the Ministry of Pensions in London, as Chairmen and representatives of the local War Pensions Committees in the South and West of Ireland, the policy of Sir Worthington Evans had led him to a scheme of decentralisation, the number of representatives of the scheme being thirteen. The Minister had asked him to relieve him to some extent of the arduous work of travelling through the country in order to give a first explanation of their intentions regarding the future of pensions under the scheme, and, therefore, he had taken, as he was proud to do, the two Irish regions, and to help him in other parts of the country. The Minister himself could not proceed to Edinburgh and Cardiff next week on a similar mission, and before very long they hoped to be able to establish a like agency for leading Scottish and Welsh centres, to enter into

GOLF.

IRISH PROFESSIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

NARROW VICTORY OF P. O'HARE.

After an eventful day's golf at Portmarnock yesterday, the result of Irish Professional Championship, presented by C. W. Price, was announced at 10.45 p.m. when, after a play-off of 18 holes, P. O'Hare, Dublin, beat Michael Moran, Portmarnock, by the narrow margin of one stroke. There was a time, both in the morning and afternoon rounds, when it looked as though Moran would win. Indeed, at the end of the second round he was one stroke ahead of O'Hare, and he had reached the turn in the afternoon round in 36 strokes, one under bogey. O'Hare, however, by a fine finish, managed to get home in 39, and thus equalled Moran's total. The latter's putting was not quite so good in the afternoon round, and he took 41 strokes to the home journey. O'Hare, who had a 78 in the morning, was not quite so consistent in the afternoon round, but he made a plucky recovery at the end, and his 39 to the home journey was the best of the day. Moran returned three 78's.

Having drawn ahead, little doubt was entertained in the minds of the spectators that O'Hare would win, but on the home green Moran made a desperate effort to overtake his opponent, and he succeeded in getting his ball to the hole, by stroke. Entries close with Mr. Stokes, 16, Sandymount-avenue, Dublin, on 24th inst. for first prize, in the former she won pretty easily by 3 up and 2 to play. Miss Jackson, however, jumped on her second place after the second round, while Miss Widdup, who showed some of her old touch to spare from the first tune.
